

UTEP's Ivories on the Border Invites you to Join!

If you enjoy solo piano, chamber music, jazz or classical performances, then you need to know about Ivories on the Border. In conjunction with the University of Texas at El Paso's Department of Music, it is through this organization that we are able to provide El Paso with concerts by musicians like Dena Kay Jones. And there are more to come!

The mission of Ivories on the Border is to: 1) provide an exchange between the wider El Paso Community and the UTEP Piano Area and Music Department, 2) to offer UTEP students and El Paso citizens keyboard performances, lectures and educational opportunities and 3) to give all in El Paso the chance to actively participate in the growth, interaction and development of the Piano Area in conjunction with the Department of Music at UTEP – a forward-looking, accredited and contributory music institution of excellence in Higher Education.

Membership costs of $25.00 per year pays for discounted ticket costs to all keyboard (solo and chamber) events, the bi-annual newsletter Keynotes and promotional information sent to all members. Any left-over membership monies will contribute to Ivories on the Border activities.

It is the Piano Area's hope that through this entity, more UTEP students will become interactive in the El Paso music scene. There is a rich piano heritage in this city that can continue to grow with the exchange between our university musicians, the community investors, musicians and music educators. For more information or to join tonight, please stop at the table in the hallway.
